

Guerrilla justice in the occupied territory of north-west russia (1941-1944)

Voprosy Istorii Volume 2021, Issue 1, 2021, Pages 182-189

- Kulik Sergey, V.,
- Korsak Alesya, I.
- - <sup>a</sup>Great St. Petersburg Polytechnic University, Russian Federation
  - <sup>b</sup>Department of History and Tourism, Polotsk State University, Belarus

Краткое описание

The article presents the features of partisan justice in the North-West of Russia during the Great Patriotic War. The article considers the activities of partisans and members of the underground to identify collaborators of the Nazi regime. It is noted that the courts of partisan detachments were one of the most effective forms of restoring signs of statehood in the territory occupied by the enemy. Difficulties in organizing the fight against traitors are revealed. It is shown that even in the most partisan environment, it was necessary to carry out prosecution procedures. Precedents of violations of military order and even crimes in partisan formations are noted, and crime prevention measures are presented. © 2021, Rossiiskaya Akademiya Nauk, Institut Istorii (Russian Academy of Sciences, Institute of General Hist. All rights reserved.

<https://www.scopus.com/record/display.uri?eid=2-s2.0-85101759127&doi=10.31166%2fVoprosyIstorii202101Statyi09&origin=inward&txGid=79812d8016660e91b3a56ec60d504fcd>